Bill of Divorcement

The Sweet Potato Queens® and Boss Queen, Jill Tonner Browne, acknowledge and affirm the divorce of:

The Delicate Flower of Womanhood

---

(hereinafter, “That Poor Sweet Girl”)

to

That Good-Fer-Nuthin’

---

(formerly known by the alias “That Perfectly Nice Man,” hereinafter, “The Gloom” )

And frankly, we wonder why it took so long because it was so obvious he was never worthy of her to begin with, and she is nothing short of a saint for putting up with his crap for so long.

The Sweet Potato Queens® wish it to be known that we only pretended to like him for her sake—we always saw him for the snake that he is. He needs to Git Further or Smell Better in our opinion.

Note of Caution: Whatever you do, no matter what your reasons are, if you are even contemplating a divorce, DO NOT do ANYTHING to your hair. Trust us on this.
