Schools on Trial

How Freedom and Creativity
Can Fix Our Educational Malpractice
by Nikhil Goyal

Nikhil Goyal offers a scathing indictment of our teach-to-the-test educational assembly line and maps out a path to harness children's natural aptitude for learning by creating an atmosphere conducive to freedom and creativity.

"A terrific book, terribly important, written with the kind of energy that ought to stir a lot of students and then parents to resist the dismal status quo."
—Jonathan Kozol

Goyal has spoken at the Clinton Global Initiative University, Google, Stanford, the University of Cambridge, SXSW, and the LEGO Foundation, among others. ## These Schools Belong to You and Me

Why We Can't Afford to Abandon Our Public Schools
by Deborah Meier and Emily Gasoi

MacArthur award-winning author Deborah Meier draws on her fifty-plus years of experience in education to argue that the purpose of universal education is to provide young people with an "apprenticeship for citizenship in a democracy." YA Authors Share Personal Moments of Inspiration

Edited by Dr. Rose Brock

The teens of today are the caretakers of tomorrow, and yet it's difficult for many to find joy or comfort in such a turbulent society. But in trying times, words are power. DR. ROSE BROCK is a veteran professor who has dedicated her career to turning teens into book lovers, cofounding the North Texas Teen Book Festival and serving as a team leader of the International Literacy Association's Young Adult Choices project. ## In the Shadow of Liberty

The Hidden History of Slavery,
Four Presidents, and Five Black Lives

By Kenneth C. Davis

Did you know that many of America's Founding Fathers—who fought for liberty and justice for all—were slave owners? Through the powerful stories of five enslaved people who were “owned” by four of our greatest presidents, this book helps set the record straight about the role slavery played in the founding of America. These stories help us know the real people who were essential to the birth of this nation but traditionally have been left out of the history books.

KENNETH C. DAVIS is the New York Times bestselling author of the Don't Know Much About® series of books for adults and children. A frequent guest on national television and radio and a Ted-Ed Educator, Davis enjoys Skype visits with middle- and high-school classrooms to discuss history. He lives in New York City and can be found at dontknowmuch.com.
