“I believe that teens of all ages require a literature that addresses their unique and specific life needs. The Rush Hour reader is the crossover consumer and I’m interested in including sophisticated content that will appeal to readers in both high school and college.”

—editor Michael Cart

Editor Michael Cart is the author of the young adult novel My Father's Scar and editor of a number of award-winning anthologies. Former president of the Young Adult Library Services Association (YALSA) and president of the Assembly of Literature for Adolescents (ALAN) 2003–2004, he teaches young adult literature at the University of California, Los Angeles, and is the recipient of the 2000 Grolier Foundation Award for his production and promotion of outstanding literature for children and young adults. He also appointed and chaired the task force that created the Michael L. Printz Award for excellence in young adult literature. Mr. Cart resides in San Diego, California.

Bold, innovative, and eclectic—that's Rush Hour, a cutting-edge literary journal with original stories, essays, poetry, and art excerpts of forthcoming novels from today's most distinguished voices, both established and new.
