WASHINGTON, D. C., July 21.—Senator Stone to-day received a letter from Gov. Major, of Missouri asking him to make an engagement with President Wilson for a delegation of Missourians who wish to come here and urge the appointment of Judge Waller W. Graves to the vacancy in the United States Supreme Court.

Senator Stone made arrangements to see the President to-morrow, when he will not only ask that a time be set for the Governor's party, but also will present to the President the long list of endorsements and petitions he has already received in behalf of Judge Graves.

Former Gov. Joseph A. Folk was unable to see President Wilson to-day to pay a personal tribute to the qualifications of Judge Graves, but expects to do so to-morrow. Another former Governor of Missouri, A. M. Dockery, now Third Assistant Postmaster General, WASHINGTON, D. C., July 21.—Former President Theodore Roosevelt to-day requested the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations to permit him to appear before the committee and make a statement in opposition to the pending Colombian treaty.

The letter from the Colonel was received by Senator Stone of Missouri, chairman of the committee. Senator Stone immediately issued a call of the committee for 10:30 o'clock to-morrow morning, when Col. Roosevelt's request will be considered.

No member of the committee was willing to forecast to-day what action the committee would take, but the opinion seemed to be general that the Colonel will be invited to come here at an early date, and will be allowed to speak without reservation.

I am in favor of a whipping-post law for every State in the Union, for wife-beaters and all other petty offenders, on whom jail sentences are imposed. When the Government or any of the States imprison a man, if he has children, then the family should be supported by the Government or the State as long as the man is in prison. This class of criminals cares but little for jail sentence, as they are better fed while in than when out of jail, and they keep on committing the same crimes over and over again. I believe nearly all of the Judges who try this class of criminals will indorse what I say in regard to the whipping post.

Quotes Ripley's Criticisms.

On April 10 Mr. E. P. Ripley, president of the Santa Fe, was quoted in two of our local papers here as very severely criticizing both houses of Congress, and I was informed that this article was put through all of the Hearst papers, which, in a manner, was approving of the vile stuff the Hearst papers have been hurling at President's Wilson's administration. This publication was as follows:

"President Ripley said it would be only natural to assume that economic conditions throughout the country would be benefited by the vast production of the farming territory, but he did not think the effect would be of enough value to cause any excitement.

"We are passing through a most critical situation, and what will be the outcome is hard to foresee," he said.

"The Congress of the United States is now composed of the most brainless set of men that ever graced the chambers of the Senate and House of Representatives," he continued. "Of course, there are exceptions, but as a whole it appears that the people of this country have elected the poorest lumber possible to represent them in the National Government.

"The original idea was to have two representative bodies, expecting that the people would elect representative men, men with brains and not those who seek office by appeal to the mobs. There is no question about it, the politicians in power to-day have less ability than any other set of men that ever went to Washington.

car and engaged one from the Union Pacific. (If Mr. Ripley had made his charges directly against the Interstate Commerce Commission I would have said "amen," as I believe that is the only department which is blocking prosperity and keeping thousands of laborers out of work.)

The 5 per cent raise the railroads ask is so reasonable that it should be granted at once. Our Wisconsin Senator who has discovered a great conspiracy formed to have this rate increase put through was, no doubt, before the railroad rate bill was passed, riding on free passes. (At any rate, nearly all of the politicians in and out of Congress were riding on free passes.)

How Mr. Ripley could have made the charges he did in that article, in the face of the fact that if the two houses of Congress had not passed another bill after having passed the three bills, namely, the tariff, the currency and the income-tax bills, it would have passed more good legislation for the benefit not only of all the people of the United States but of the entire civilized world than the Republican party has passed since Mr. Lincoln's death.

There will be no more panics.
More people were ruined by the 1907 panic than all of the five previous panics which occurred in this country. Mr. Cortelyou, Secretary of the United States Treasury, had put twenty-five millions of dollars in New York City, several millions of dollars in Chicago and St. Louis and a few millions of dollars in New Orleans. I think, to check the panic, and the crisis had passed when J. P. Morgan's bank forced it by refusing to clear for the Knickerbocker Trust Company of New York City, knowing the trust company was absolutely solvent.

Mr. Morgan and his side partners wanted John G. Gates' steel plant, and they got it, and eliminated Mr. Gates entirely from any future development in New York City. As things were, the New York gang of high-waymen could bring on a panic whenever they wanted one. The 1907 panic ruined lots of men and women who were so rich they thought they were "unbreakable."

Gang Beaten by Wilson.

This same New York gang started in to bring on another panic since the Democratic administration took charge of the Government, their object being to kill the three bills Congress was perfecting—the currency, the tariff and the income-tax bills—which would, had they succeeded, completely have wrecked President Wilson's administration.

The President and Mr. McAdoo, however, knocked the wind out of their dastardly scheme by telling not only the bankers all over the country, but the public at large

He added that Gen. Carranza had refused his agents that Ignacio Bonillas, Minister in the Constitutional visional Cabinet, had been appointed Chief Engineer of a committee to conduct an investigation of land concessions in Lower California. Bonillas is a gradu-

things were, the New York gang of high-

Gang Beaten by Wilson.

This same New York gang started in to
 bring on another panic since the Democratic administration took charge of the
 bills—which would, had they succeeded,
 administration.

 over the country, but the public at large, that there were $500,000,000 in the United States Treasury which was at their disposal if wanted.

Had not Mr. Cleveland's income tax bill been declared unconstitutional we would very nearly have had the millenium to-day. It was defeated by Republican money. By defeating it all the burdens of running the Government, from that time until the present bill goes into effect, have been saddled on to the struggling masses of the United States, and the millionaires and billionaires have escaped paying their prorata of it.

This is what happened at that time: There were nine Judges on the Supreme Court bench. The Republicans had hired Joseph H. Choate (and it was stated paid him $100,- 000 to argue the bill unconstitutional), and after the arguments had all been made by attorneys on both sides the Judges, by a five-to-four vote, voted the bill constitutional.

You will see that Joseph H. Choate's eloquence did not land the "plum." But, unfortunately, there had to be a review within the next two or three days. This gave the men who paid Mr. Choate such a large sum of money a chance to get in their infamous work in another way. They no doubt would have paid $50,000 or $100,000 if necessary to convince one of the Judges that he was not in his right mind when he voted in favor of the bill.

Jurist Switches: Bill Is Beaten.

At any rate, after a few more arguments by the lawyers on both sides, which did not amount practically to anything, as all of the important points in the case had been covered on the first trial, the review was looked upon as a farce and no one expected a change in the verdict: but Judge Shiras did change to the other side and defeated the bill by a five-to-four vote.

It has been stated recently that not a single Judge from the district in Pennsylvania that Judge Shiras was from had been put on the Federal Court bench since that happened.
 In killing Mr. Cleveland's income tax bill they also willed the Wilson tariff bill, which was another thing they wanted to accomplish, and, in killing both, killed Mr. Cleveland's administration.

I would be willing to stake my life on the statement I now make—that had Mr. Lincoln been alive when this happened, notwithstanding it was a Democratic administration, bill, no sum of money could have been large enough to have induced him to argue against the bill; on the contrary, he would have been heartily in favor of it.

The defeat of that bill was an infamous crime against every laboring man, woman and child in the United States, and second to only one other crime perpetrated by the Republican party since Mr. Lincoln's death, and that one other was putting the fifteenth amendment in the Constitution.

Harriet Beecher Stowe, who wrote "Uncle Tom's Cabin," protested vigorously against it. All the men who voted for it in both Houses were as far from Mr. Abra-

Harrist, Beecher Stowe, who wrote "Un-against it. All the men who voted for it in both Houses were as far from Mr. Abraham Lincoln as the devil is from God—they crucified him over and over again after his death.

Mr. Lincoln was already planning to colonize the surplus negroes into other countries.
On his campaign with Douglas he said: "I would not let the negroes vote or serve on jury. The question of intermarriage between the two races is too ridiculous to talk about. But I am bitterly opposed to any one man owning another; but as slavery is established in the South constitutionally, we have no right to interfere with it there, and won't, but we will fight to its death the effort that is being made to force slavery into any of the new free territories."

Cause of the Civil War.

The attempt to force slavery into Kansas brought on the Civil War.

He would have started right away to help all the impoverished people in the South to rebuild their fallen fortunes. Their money was worthless and they virtually had nothing left but their homes and lands. He would have helped them reorganize their State governments with their own people and no carpetbagger Governors would have been sent down from the North, who, after getting there, helped to rob the Southern people of their antique furniture and all other valuables they could get their hands on —this stuff was shipped North by carload lots.

Only a short time before the war ended Mr. Lincoln made the offer to the Southern leaders that if they would lay down their arms and come back into the Union he would pledge the Government to buy and pay for every slave in the South, which offer was refused. Mr. Lincoln made them this offer because he had told the Southern people more than once that he would not interfere with slavery in the South, owing to the fact that it was established there constitutionally, showing that he was strictly honorable up to the last minute of his life.

At no time, from the commencement to the end of the war, was Mr. Lincoln carrying on the war except for the preservation of the Union. He was not at any time fighting to free the negroes, and not until conditions had become so desperate that to save the Union he decided to issue his proclamation freeing all the slaves in the South.

The radical Republican politicians, both in and out of Congress, made Mr. Lincoln's life a burden to him. The last two or three years of the war they even started a movement to sidetrack him for a second term—they had picked ex-Gov. Chase of Ohio for the man with whom to do the trick, and he was not loath to accept the nomination, but Mr. Lincoln's friends in Ohio sat down very hard on the scheme and killed it.

They insisted that Mr. Lincoln was entitled to be in the presidential chair as long as the war lasted, anyway. He had to call down two or three of his Generals, who, without authority from him or anyone else, issued radical orders in regard to the negroes. His greatest trial was, however, because of the way his Generals kept losing battles one after another, and the slaughter of his beloved soldiers on each battlefield.

The following night lettergram was sent to Mr. Choate on April 20, 1910:

"Santa Barbara, Cal., April 20, 1910.—Joseph H. Choate, New York City: Your solicitation for the Constitution and for your millionaire and billionaire friends will, if we do not get an income-tax bill passed, bring on a revolution within the next four years. Prosperity is a myth except with the farmers and with the men and women who have all the money. Business men and business interests are striving for an existence. I mean all who have no protection or favor shown them. Could we have had Abraham Lincoln to argue for the people before the Supreme Court against you, you would not have been one to six in the case.

"D. D. WALKER"

This wire was sent Mr. Choate at the time he was advising the New York Legislature that an income-tax bill it was working on would be unconstitutional.

If all of the above statements are correct, and I believe they are, though made from memory only, they prove conclusively that the Republican party since Mr. Lincoln's death (up to the time Mr. Roosevelt was elected President, who had some excellent legislation passed with the assistance of the Democratic party—namely, the railroad rate and pure food and drugs bills, and others I do not recall at this time—the "standpatters" being against him on most of them) has legislated exclusively to make the rich richer and the poor poorer, and they have made a great success of it. My prediction is that the "standpatter" part of the Republican party will never get control of the United States Government again.

The people of the United States are blessed with the grandest country on the face of the earth to live in, but political conditions are damnable. We have politics for breakfast dinner and supper—if not national, State; if not State, city—but politics all of the time.

The business men of the country, who have to foot the bills, can, if they will, put an end to this condition of affairs by having an amendment put into the Constitution changing the presidential term from four to six years and the congressional term from two to three years. This, in my opinion, would reduce the number of failures among the business men of the country, at least 23 1/2 per cent.

Mr. Walker is spending the summer at his summer home in Kennebunkport, Me., between which place and Santa Barbara, Cal., he spends most of his time. When he resided in Vandeventer place, in St. Louis, several years ago, he always took an active interest in civic affairs.
